One source for everything

Welding machines for reinforcement mesh

In the reinforcing mesh sector the Schlatter Group specializes in the construction of plants for the efficient production of simple and complex reinforcement steel mesh of different shapes and sizes. Boasting high availability and productivity, short changeover times and a consideration for specific local quality requirements, our systems fulfil all the key requirements of our customers in the reinforcing mesh market.

Welding machines for industrial mesh and fences

In the industrial and fencing mesh segment the Schlatter Group specializes in the construction of plants for the efficient production of all kinds of mesh varieties in small and large lot sizes. High production output, flexibility, short changeover times and the operation safety of our plants make Schlatter the worldwide number one system provider in the market for industrial mesh.

Wire weaving machines for metal wire fabrics and screen assembly machines for sieves and screens

The Jäger metal wire weaving machines are designed for highly efficient production of the highest-quality fabrics. The machines are characterized by their operator convenience and easy maintenance. The large range of peripheral devices completes the necessary configuration for the economic production of metal wire fabrics.

Cold-rolling, drawing and stretching technology

The innovative cold-rolling, drawing and stretching technology sets new standards in terms of safety, reliability and efficiency in the production of wire. The manufacturing solutions range from entry-level systems to highly automated systems and integrated production lines.

Customer Service

Our goal is to increase our customers' productivity and to extend their systems' service life. With our customer service, we therefore also support you long after the commissioning of a system from Schlatter. We will be happy to arrange a personal consultation meeting to work out a customized service package tailored to meet your needs.
